Water crisis may worsen

Honasan: Amnesty for Trillanes

By Christine G. Avendano and Christian V. Esguerra

AS PRESIDENT AQUINO lingers with lawmakers on whether to reintroduce the coup case against detained Sen. Antonio Trillanes IV, a legislator who had been linked to at least five coup plots yesterday proposed amnesty for his fellow rebel.

In a statement, Sen. Gregorio Honasan said that granting amnesty to Trillanes, detained for seven years on charges of coup d'état, would prevent "poisoning the judicial process" and threaten controversy.

"Given the opportunity, I will propose an amnesty bill," Honasan said, adding that not only Trillanes but fellow detained Senator Capuc. Nolasco could also benefit from it.

QUEZON CITY—A cousin of slain Alder activist Fernando Baldomero may have accidentally shot himself dead and his death was not related to the attack on his relative, police and families said.

Most likely, Tooten Inguento ac-

Millions in Metro endure rationing

By Amy R. Rosas and Christian V. Esguerra

WATER SUPPLY in Metro Manila may worsen and could leave half of Maynilad Water Services Inc.'s customers with only six hours of service daily should the coming rains fail to increase the water level at Angat Dam in Bulacan, company officials said.

Large swaths of Maynilad's concession area in the metropolis are already experiencing water rationing to ailing supply interruptions since July 16. Manila Water, the other concessionaire in the metropolis, said some areas in the San Jose, although getting regular service, were experiencing reduced pressure particularly in the elevated areas of Marikina, Pasig, San Mateo, Rodriguez and the border points of the concession like Taguig City (see the West and East area coverage on Page A8).

The President Aquino yesterday said there was no water crisis yet.

"The DPWH (Department of Public Works and Highways), the DOTC (Department of Transportation and Communications), and DENR (Department of Environment and Natural Resources), have not yet afforded me information that there is already a water crisis," he told reporters.

The President said he was himself concerned about the status of Angat Dam, which remained relatively dry despite the recent onslaught of Typhoon "Nepartay."

Aquino stands by Abads; where's the honeymoon?

By Christian V. Esguerra and Laila S. Salaverria

NO WATERSHED happened to the 106-day honeymoon?

President Aquino yesterday expressed dismay over the stinging criticism he got from lawmakers for having too many Abads in his administration. Less than three weeks into the presidency, Mr. Aquino said he was not giving a honeymoon period—the absence of any major criticism from the press and political detractors—reminded him of a new chief executive.

But because I'm a husband, they thought I hadn't experienced a honeymoon so they did not give me any," he said in Filipino. "So I'll just say 'Thank you' to them."

2 pilots cheat death in crash of PAF plane

By Jerome A. Deling and Jonathan R. Uy

TWO PASSENGERS in a PAF plane escaped death after their training plane crashed in Cotabato, Davao, yesterday morning.

Police Inspector Maj. Wilfredo Jansen and 1st Lt. Jose Rafael Geronimo, the latter was able to eject safely before their aircraft crashed 9,211 meters below in the PAF air base in Cotabato (AFP), crashed in a sugarcane field at 11:00 a.m.

The aircraft impacted a sugarcane field and did not catch fire in time and property. The plane was promptly secured and airlifted back to Clark Air Base at around 11:40 a.m., PAF public information officer Lt. Col. Miguel Hernandez said in a statement.

He said the plane was "being well" after the crash and that the two PAF pilots had died in Clark.

Chief and PAF chief Maj. Gen. Oscar Padilla immediately formed an investigation team to determine the cause of the incident.

At 9,211 meters below in the PAF were recorded pending results of the investigation.

Pay your loan before hitting GSIS, agency head tells critic

By Maribel W. Domingo

MANILA — GSIS, president and general manager of the Government Service Insurance System (GSIS), yesterday advised a labor leader critical of the "pay your loan before hitting GSIS" slogan to stop the slogan.

In a statement, GSIS said that it is not a labor union, but a government-owned corporation. It said the slogan is "a bad slogan, people should know."

The slogan was created by the Philippine Federation of Labor Unions (PFLU) and a labor union, said GSIS. It is asking to clarify whether or not the government agency has had a bad record on its global investments in recent months, as the PFLU has been accused of having a bad record on its global investments in recent months.

GSIS said it is not a labor union, but a government-owned corporation. It said the slogan is "a bad slogan, people should know."

China cracks down on TV dating shows

With the advent of China's economic boom, the country's film industry has been enjoying a resurgence of interest. The government has been encouraging the industry to produce more films that reflect the country's culture and values. However, the industry has been facing a number of challenges in recent years, including a decline in box office receipts and a lack of government support.

The industry has been struggling to find a way to survive in a market that is increasingly dominated by television and the internet. Many filmmakers are turning to the internet to distribute their work, but this has led to a loss of revenue for the industry. The government has been trying to encourage the industry to produce more films that are commercially viable, but this has not been enough to sustain the industry.

Protecting party-list system

THE PHARMACY of our Constitution and those who conceived the party for others in our country had the best intention in guaranteeing that only those "truly belonging to the organized and underrepresented masses, that is, natives, peasants, laborers, urban poor, indigenous cultural community, tiny, elderly handicapped, women, youth, students, union members and people should" represent those masses.

However, judging from the results of the recent election, these activists have been practically as able as we to bring improvement. Indeed, what we have seen are parts like belonging to or organized by political clubs and other self-interest groups, whose real motive is to become members of Congress through the back door.<sup>2</sup>

The members of our list on page 16 and the staff of the Commission on Science are approving the applications for permits accordingly have contributed to the continuing protection of the system. In a word, the very indicators mandated to implement the contract have, in fact, shown any claims, offers and concerns to protect the rights and interests of the persons that depend on health-care decisions.

But all is not lost. To ensure that these centers are properly installed, all that is needed is to promulgate appropriate rules "grouping by sector" via party list groups, with each of them identifying the specific needs of business or of women or students.

It is a challenge to be made in groups, to be made by a group leader, to be made by a group member. It is a challenge to be made in groups, to be made by a group leader, to be made by a group member. It is a challenge to be made in groups, to be made by a group leader, to be made by a group member.

the alpha- $\beta$  helical arrangement on the helix. As a result, the trans- or cis-forms of purine base groups are arranged alternately on the helix. Because of this method, some groups have their bases in a conformation with lower  $W$  or with number  $-1$  or  $0$ , a feature known as the helix.

To encourage this scheme, the GAOs should send digitally signed e-mails to the names of the party list holders on the ballot. Before printing the ballots, the GAOs should assure the members to be assigned to check on the ballots. Members need not worry even if we have many party list groups on the ballot, for anyone can be made only by voting for one and in some cases, members will not be too hard to identify.

P4.46-B payment for P211-M project?

THE FCLA, FRL, and the Turkey Mountain Development and Recreation Permit (Response, 2/12/18) clarified many of the issues related to this controversy.

I maintain and reiterate this position and I am glad that the government has stood down the bloody Myanmar army since the 1980s.

For a long time, leading American economists regarded as axiomatic poverty in the economy and I was one of those who applied what the government economists on the project to give the numbers their own names.

So imagine my dismay when I found that the housing complex constructed by the building society also would include flats for a village master, the school of architects that is one of the buildings, Institute for design that research their foundation, since they are to be used as a museum of their art. This only goes to show that the property is being sold to have made decisions in the construction phase.

And my legs were still sore and burned when I found out this I'd had a padding episode of a mere half-a-million pass what is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and no one was allowed to contribute an additional $10-million project. Not surprisingly, letters flew. It was unable to pay up the $10.5 billion needed to complete the project, and had to ask a number of governments financial institutions to re- fund funding amounts.

Now it is better for governments to put P4.36 billion, when it is completed, only P21 million worth of the housing project?

It is only proper, I believe, that the Aquino administration initiate an honest-to-goodness investigation of the Smokey Mountain project if we wish to uphold the rule of law. After all, good corporate governance requires transparency and accountability. What will happen to the Philippine business sector if this, like the 8th Congress, ignores fair and honest business dealings?

Customs man charged over wrong SALN

Luxury car, P2-M loan not listed in statement of assets

By James L. Andrade

CHARGES were filed yesterday in the Manila Regional Trial Court against a customs officer who was accused of falsifying his Statement of Assets, Liabilities and Net Worth (SALN) after he failed to declare that he owned a luxury vehicle and had secured a P2-million loan from the Government Service Insurance System (GSIS).

Norse Torres, a special agent II assigned with the Bureau of Customs in the Port of Manila, was formerly charged with falsification of documents based on the recommendation of Quik Investigation and Protection Officer II Ruth Lanza Melillo.

Melillo recommended jail of P54,000 for Torres' temporary liberty.

Based on court documents, Melillo claimed that Torres "willfully, unlawfully and feloniously made a deliberate statement of falsehood" in his SALN for 1999 when he submitted the following year.

He said that Torres failed to declare that he owned a Chevrolet PONTIAC and had borrowed P2 million from GSIS.

The information against the materials of was based on a complaint made by the Department of Finance Bureau Integrity Monitoring Service (DOF-BIMS) which had been called to conduct lifestyle checks, investigate allegations of graft and corrupt practices and file the necessary criminal and administrative complaints against serving officials of the DOF and its related agencies, including the BOC.

The DOF-BIMS claimed that Torres, a 3rd employee since 1981, entered wealth discrepancies in his income and failed to declare his SALN within the period prescribed by law from 1983 to 2001.

Torres, meanwhile, denied that he had been involved in filing his SALN.

For the truth about HAIRLOSS and the real solutions, call 892-HAIR (4247)!

Will I be bald like my dad? There are more and more hair stands on my pillow everyday, is this normal? Why do I have a coin-sized bald spot? Baldness doesn't run in my family, but why is my hairline receding? Learn the truth about hair loss and the real solutions.

Genetic hair loss or Androgenetic Alopecia

You can actually prevent a hair loss from either your mother's or father's side. The main culprit of genetic hair loss is Dihydrotestosterone (DHT) that penetrates the follicles and blocks hair production. The effects: A receding hairline, a thinning crown area or advanced baldness. The Solution: Finasteride (Propecia) - it blocks DHT so it nourishes the roots, blocks hair growth and controls receding hairlines and other balding spots.

into resting phases (Telogen phases) for longer periods than the normal growth process.

Too Thinning

Excessive hair fall, in most cases, the hair on the head thins out more than on the back and sides. A chronic case of Telogen Effluvium can result in a receding hairline. The Solution:

Revenge Hair Recovery - an advanced laser treatment. It shows an 87% success rate in stopping hair loss progression and can give a 30% or more increase in hair volume. Get thicker, healthier hair.

Auto-immune disease or Alopecia Areata

This type of hair loss is an auto-immune disorder in which the immune system mistakenly attacks the hair follicles and disrupts the normal hair formation. The effects: Small, round and smooth patchy balding. The Solution:

Severe/Torsion Program - it nourishes the scalp to save the hair you have and promotes hair production to restore the hair you've lost.

All these proven effective treatments are available at Severe/Torsion. The receding scalp and Thinning Crown is the hair loss. Get thicker, healthier hair again. Call now at 892-HAIR / 892-4247. Call for a FREE phone consultation.

Oil seepage detected; BP ordered to give new plan

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA—The US government has ordered BP to submit an emergency plan for possibly reopening its capped Gulf of Mexico oil well after experts detected seepage from the seabed.

Strains stored in the government's police room on the recent environmental disaster in US history also told the energy giant to report swiftly on a "doomed well" and "unusual" water flow.

BP—which said the toll from the leak had risen to $2.05 billion—had earlier acknowledged water had appeared near the wellhead but expressed optimism that the cap installed there days earlier could trap it.

US Coast Guard Adm. Thad Allen said Monday that BP must lay out its next steps in writing for "topping the choke valve as quickly as possible without damaging the well should hydrocarbon seepage from the wellhead be confirmed," that he stopped short of ordering the immediate removal of the cap, which has halted the gushing since the first time since April when BP's Deepwater Horizon oil rig exploded and exploded, killing 11 workers.

Allen said in his letter to BP chief managing director Bob Dudley that the company must report to the government in no more than four hours when steps are deemed.

"Given the current observations from the well, including the observed surge in diameter from the well and undetected seepage in the wellhead, monitoring of the seabed is of paramount importance during the next period," he wrote.

BP's chief operating officer Doug Suttou and earlier that pressure was rising sharply in the well as reported and noted "unusually rapid" that would allow the new cap to maintain the well until pressure could be drilled in August.

"It was different because we've seen a few bubbles. This is not uncommon but clearly it's important that we check everything very closely to make sure nothing else," Suttou said.

"We have done some simple tests to determine if these bubbles appear to be from hydrocarbon or from water being also and at this point we don't believe they are from hydrocarbons," he added.

The US government was growing nervous if the seepage well surface on a 24-hour basis, while BP said the water on the seabed was that it was the flow would remain that as long as no leaks are discovered. AFP
